LOYOLA FAQ'S

Can students take courses from differrent areas of study?

Yes, but the student will need to comply with prerequisites in each course. Please check the syllabus.

Are classes taught bilingually?

There are classes in Spanish and classes in English, some classes are offered in an "English-Friendly modality". This means that the course itself is taught in Spanish and student must have a minimum intermediate level but language acommodations and materials can be offered. The student will need to enroll in the classes that they are able to follow and present the exams in the corresponding language.

Can students take master courses?

Undergraduate programs in Loyola are 4 years long. Master students from other universities are advised to take 3-4 year courses. Our Master programs are not open to receive exchange students.

Do you send exams to be done at the home university?

No, exams are done face to face on the established date. There will not be any virtual exams either.
